DESCRIPTION

Bungalow 7a. Architectural style:

7b. Briefly describe the present physical description of the site or structure and describe any major alterations from its original condition: Legal: CV Villa Tct, Blk 2, Lot 4 N 90' This one story house features a medium, side-facing gable roof with a shed extension in front to shelter an open porch. The eaves are wide, rafter ends exposed, and a brick chimney pierces the roof near the ridge line. The home is nearly symmetrical with an entrance at the center flanked by windows on each side. A square post on a pier supports the porch roof at each front corner. Two piers without posts near the center balance the design. The porch, which extends completely across the front, has an interesting railing with perforated slats much like those seen on Eastlake homes. in this house are generally double hung. The home has horizontal clapboard siding flared at the foundation line. An addition has been added to the right end of the house and has board and batten siding as well as aluminum frame windows.
